

Absolute rewards employees on its annual gathering

We at Absolute have been organising an annual employee gathering every year for the past 27 years during Christmas to reward our employees who have done great work during the year and met the standards in their areas defined by the company. We also felicitated the staff members who have completed 5 years and 10 years in the organisation. The gathering was attended by around 300 people including our employees along with their family members. The family members enjoyed various fun activities like tambola, musical chairs, family games and some children were even awarded for showcasing their talent in singing and dancing.

Absolute office visited by the students of national Association for the Blind (NAB)

Students from the National Association for the Blind (NAB), New Delhi visited Absolute office as a part of their curriculum. Our Director, Mr Ravi Kapur personally met these students and had a discussion about how these students are making a difference in their lives and in the lives of thousands of other such people. All these students are trained in various fields like tele-calling, data entry, etc and we feel proud to inform you that even at Absolute we have a staff from NAB who is working as a tele operator and does data entry work.

Information Every Quarter

Know The Process

Single guard deployment process

At certain premises there is only a single guard in either day or night shift. In order to ensure the guard reaches the premises on time, Absolute has the process of calling on the landline number of the client at the reporting time to ensure if the guard has reached the location. This ensures the guard reaches on time. Wherever a landline number is not available, we provide the solution of QR code tracking at a very minimal cost, where the guard will scan the QR code fixed inside the premise to mark his attendance. This will also ensure that the guard has reached the location on time.
